

SWIMMERS FROM HONOLULU TOOK AN EASY VICTORY

17, and the University of California third, with 14. Duke Kahanamoku was the star performer of the evening, once again demonstrating his superiority over a high-class field by winning the 100, 200 and 400 yard dashes with ease, and putting up a wonderful exhibition in the last of the relay race.

The crowd, numbering closely to 2000, was not as responsive as when Kahanamoku swam here on the Fourth of July, and not until the sensational relay race, the last event on the program, were the spectators worked up to anything like feverish excitement.

This event, won by the Hui Nalu, was easily the star affair of the evening, and justly deserved the hearty round of applause it received, although many of the crowd had left during the slow diving competition. The Olympic Club swimmers held the lead for the first two laps, with the University of California second and the Hui Nalu relayers third. Ernie Smith swam the third lap for the collegians, bringing his club to the front, while Hui Nalu and the Olympians were on even terms. The fourth lap completed found the California boys with a lead of 10 yards, with Hui Nalu second and the Olympians third.

And then Kahanamoku, competing for Hui Nalu, got busy and swam for dear life, overtaking the speedy Marcus Lee of the university team on the 60-yard mark with a burst of speed that was nothing short of marvelous and winning the event for his club by nearly two lengths, with California second and the Olympic Club third. Duke's time for the 75-yard lap was 4:33 2-5, just a second slower than his world's record, established in San Francisco during his last visit.

Duke set his own pace in the 100 and 200 events, and although his time was first-class, he was not expected to any record-breaking performances.

In the 400 Kahanamoku led for the first few laps, coming through with a final sprint to clearly outclass the field.

In the quarter there was a pretty scrap for the second position honors between Murray Benton of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. and Frederick Wilhelm of the Hui Nalu. Benton set the pace for the first two laps, when Kahanamoku shot to the front and was never headed, although he swam with an ease and grace that showed an "I should worry" spirit.

Kahanamoku won the race with 20 yards to spare, but the second place was decided by inches. Wilhelm touching the rope just a fraction of a second before Benton, who put up a game fight but showed his lack of experience by trying to set the pace against such seasoned men.

Chief Bowes, champion diver of the Pacific coast, showed the field some things about the game and took first place with ease in the high diving competition. He failed to compete in the spring board and Dool took the honors, with Williamson and Brand second and third, respectively, the former just nosing out his fellow Olympian.

Lady Langer won the half-mile event, as expected, setting his own pace from the start with the ease and style of a regular champion, and coming out with a final sprint that was wonderful for speed, beating out Walter Pomeroy by 13 yards, with Wilhelm a poor third. Langer and Pomeroy shook the field in the sixth lap and the contest was between them for the remainder of the race.

Two records were established during the evening in the 150-yard back and 200-yard breast stroke events. De Villipon won the breast in an interesting contest in 2:05 2-5, and Jensen took the back stroke in 2:17 1-5. Both are from the local Young Men's Christian Association. Neither of these distances with their respective styles have heretofore been contested on the coast, and are therefore Pacific coast records.

UNSAVORY CASE PROMISES TO FOLLOW CHARGES

Out of what at first appeared to be a simple case of assumption, the suit of creditors for money owing them by Joseph J. Medeiros, has evolved an action replete with charges and counter-charges, with allegations of blackmail bringing in the name of a woman and also threatening to bring in the names of a few prominent men of Honolulu, who also are alleged to be her victims.

Medeiros, also charged with making off with a necklace entrusted to him, was surrendered by his bondsmen this morning, only a few minutes later to have other men go surety for his appearance before the court.

The woman in the case is alleged to have secured more than $5,000 in the past year from Medeiros. She has hotly denied this, and on the witness stand Friday her testimony was to the effect that she was not indebted to the man in any sum, but that on the other hand he owed her on his note the sum of $450.

Facts of the case, as told by Medeiros and J. M. McChesney, for whom he worked, and as told by the woman, are vastly different. While McChesney states that the woman bled his employe for all the money he could borrow, amounting to a sum between $4,000 and $5,000, the woman affirms that she has never received a cent from Medeiros and that the letters she sent to him, asking for money, were to the end that the note she held could be discharged.

Medeiros is said to have borrowed large sums of money from his brothers and father-in-law, and to have secured all the cash he could from his friends to turn over to the woman. McChesney has testified that he at one time saw nine notes, aggregating the sum of $1,770, which were signed by the woman and countersigned by Medeiros. These notes, says McChesney, were later given back to the woman.

The woman denies all of this. She says that Medeiros pestered her with his company continuously, that she at different times loaned him small sums which totaled at the time he gave her the note, August 11 of this year, of $450. She is expected to take the stand when the hearing is continued to further deny all part in any blackmailing scheme.

LONDON TO HEAR LECTURE COURSES ON PUBLIC ISSUES

[By Latest Mail] LONDON—The London School of Economics and Political Science, University College, and King's College, have arranged for a new program of intercollegiate courses on subjects of imperial interest.

Beginning on February 5, Sidney Low will give a course of six lectures on "Some Psychological and Ethical Factors in the Development of the British Empire" at the London School of Economics. Professor Morgan will deliver at University College the Rhodes lectures on the "Legal and Political Unity of the Empire," which will begin on November 4.

A series of six lectures will be given by Mr. Fulton at University College on "The Colonial Expansion of English Institutions" and Mr. Tawney will deliver the Ratan Tata lectures on "The State Regulation of Wages." These lectures will be open to the public without fee.

AT THE THEATERS

EMPIRE THEATER

The Quint Q's Quartette made their initial bow to an Honolulu audience on Saturday at a matinee and evening performance at the Empire theater and judging from the extent of applause that they received, they pleased the gathering of people who packed the house on two occasions.

The organization combines a happy variety in its extensive repertoire. Individually and collectively, they do turns which include topical songs, ballads, light comedy and acrobatic stunts. It is a novel musical act and one of the first to be introduced in this city in a number of months. One member of the quartette, a young man of a female impersonator. Many of the songs are new and all were well received.

Beginning with the middle of the week a complete change of bill is promised. The Quint Q's are en route to the United States and the continent after having spent many months in Australia and South Africa. In addition to the return of vaudeville at the Empire, the management announces that a daily change of new and first run pictures will be followed. The films, the product of the best mainland studios, will be fully up to the Empire standard.

With the last of the week, Ye Liberty theater entered the lists as a low-priced picture house, where a good class of films are shown. That the project has "caught on" is abundantly attested to by the large attendance nightly.

BIJOU THEATER

A surprise will be sprung on the show-going public of this city tonight at the Bijou theater, when Monte Carter and his players will present "Izzy in Mexico," a pleasing mixture of comedy and music. Monte Carter as Izzy, who becomes stranded in Mexico and joins the Mexican army, will afford fruit for a barrel of mirth. The burlesque army will also be a scream. "Sailing Down the Chesapeake Bay" will be sung by Frank Harrington and the Dancing Chicks, while "That Mel-low Melody," an exceedingly pretty ballad, will be rendered by Dee Loreta. Harry Hallen as the Dutchman will sing "Why Did They Build the Ocean So Near the Shore." Miss Del Edesta will make things lively with her rendition of "That Society Rag." A solo by Geo. Archer will no doubt meet with immediate favor, and by special request the Bijou quartet will again be heard in new selections.

Costumes and scenic effects will be in general keeping with the show itself.

SURPRISES MANY IN HONOLULU

The QUICK action of simple buck-thorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-I-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, is surprising Honolulu people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that a SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. Adler-I-ka is the most thorough bowel cleanser ever sold. The Hollister Drug Company—advertisement.

BERLIN TIMES IS EDITED BY YOUNG VICTORIAN GIRL

[By Latest Mail] MELBOURNE, Australia—The Berlin Continental Times, a weekly newspaper published in English for the Anglo-American colony, is edited by Miss Constance Hook, a young Victorian whose early girlhood was passed in the Melbourne suburb of Camberwell.

Her brother-in-law, J. S. Delmer, who is professor of English at the Berlin university, was at one time a teacher in South Melbourne College, of which his future wife and her younger sister were distinguished students. In addition to his university work at Berlin, Professor Delmer was editor of the paper, and on the visit of Miss Hook to her sister, some years ago, he availed himself of her assistance in the editorial work, which he ultimately left entirely in her hands.

Miss Hook has been spending a short furlough in Australia and has returned to Berlin, and she purposes visiting America before settling down to her work in the German capital. During her residence in Germany Miss Hook has contributed as correspondent to several of the London and New York daily newspapers.

JAMAICA ROADS EXCELLENT FOR AUTOMOBILING

[By Latest Mail] MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica—Motoring has become one of the great pastimes of the island and with roads equal to the best in any section of the West Indies it may be valuable for prospective automobilists to know what is required of them by law. The guide-book of the Jamaica Tourist Association gives prominence to the following sections of the regulations for automobile drivers:

1. Each motor car shall carry two license plates, one in front and one in the rear of the car, with the license letter and number on each plate. License letters and number shall occupy a space of not less than 3 inches in length, 3 1/2 inches in width and each stroke shall occupy a space of not less than 1/4 of an inch wide.

2. Every car shall, between half an hour after sunset and half an hour before sunrise, have a rear light so placed as to show a red light behind and a white light illuminating the license number.

3. Every person driving a motor car shall carry with him the license granted to him under section 4, law 26, 1905, and shall whenever required by a constable produce such license for examination.
